GREAT DISADVANTAGE

To Maysville Should Early Morning and Late Afternoon L. & N. Trains Be Removed and Citizens of This City Raise Protest.

The report has been current here for the past several days that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company is going to remove the early morning train arriving in this city at 7:30 o'clock and the late afternoon train going out at 3:15 o'clock, consequently the business men of this city have pondered over the matter considerably during the last few days and will send a protest to Superintendent W. H. Anderson asking that the two trains shall not be removed.

In a business way the removal of the two trains would leave only the 9:15 train in the morning and the 1:15 train in the afternoon and this would seriously handicap those people who come to Maysville to do their shopping, as their time would be more limited.

And an equally important matter to be considered is the fact that a number of children from nearby towns and villages come to Maysville to finish school education in the Maysville High School. Therefore, should these two trains be cut off, they would of necessity be forced to either board in Maysville all week or else quit school.

The matter is quite a serious one to Maysville people and it is hoped that the L. & N. officials will see their way clear to continue the two trains.

MISSION REPORT

For September Makes Excellent Showing. Public Should Aid This Good Cause This Winter

The Board of City Missions met in regular monthly session on Tuesday afternoon of this week. Much business of interest was discussed as Miss Margaret Maxon, the new settlement worker was in attendance. Mrs. Brock brought up her usual good report, she having been kept very busy, especially in one department of the work—the clothing of the little folks, as they were getting ready for school. Two hundred and seventy-three garments were distributed and self-respecting children, clean and comfortable, joined their more fortunate friends in their miniature world—the school.

In many cases these clothes were paid for on easy terms.

Mrs. Brock made 93 calls in the homes, gave out some 19 baskets of provisions, assisted Miss Casey in caring for the sick and also assisted in a clean-up crusade of two homes.

Seven dollars and seventy cents was given to help cases of extreme poverty. All meetings had shown a decided increase in attendance.

After last monthly reports had all been presented, Miss Maxon was introduced to the Board, and her plans for settlement work were discussed. She will conduct the industrial school very much along the lines of last year's plan, adding a night school. She has also instituted a story hour once a week for the younger children, and her plan is to make the Mission a social center for the young people, who have so few pleasures after working hours.

Miss Maxon is very interested in reviving the Juvenile Court for the sake of youthful offenders against the law.

Maysville is most fortunate in having secured the services of such a high type of cultural young womanhood, devoting her time and talents toward the making of a better citizenship.

ANTWERP FALLS

Into Hands of Germans After Terrific Bombardment

War Against Great Britain to Be Next Move of the Kaiser

Belgium Will Then Become the Base of Operations of Teutons in Their Invasion of England

LATEST WAR BULLETINS

London, England, Oct. 9.—The Morning Post says that it has been informed by a good authority that Antwerp has fallen before the vigorous hammering of the German artillery.

The official press bureau says it is unable to confirm the foregoing. Count De La Laigne, Belgian Minister to Great Britain, says he has received no confirmation of the reported fall of Antwerp.

A Reuters dispatch from Toulon says that the French torpedo boats, the 338 and the 317, collided Friday morning off the Isle of Porquerolles, in the Mediterranean, and sank. The crews of both vessels were saved.

The places in Antwerp which thus far have suffered the most severely to the bombardment of that city are the Southern Station, the Palace of Justice, the Avenue de l'Industrie and the quarters in these vicinities. This statement is made in a message from the United States correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Little Change in France.

On the battle field in France the German and French reports agree there has been no change in the situation, although the French claim to have made some little progress near St. Mihiel and in the Argonne.

It's Berlin for the Bear.

Petrograd, Oct. 9.—The Russian center, mobilized in Warsaw, has started forward on the first lap of its march to Berlin.

War On Great Britain Next.

Rome, via Paris, Oct. 9.—The war against Great Britain, according to German newspapers received here, will commence at the end of October, after Antwerp has fallen.

Belgium then will become the base of operations against Great Britain, the newspapers say. They add that Admiral Van Treppe, the Minister of the Navy, who is now at general headquarters with Emperor William, has announced that he will go aboard the flagship of the German fleet and direct the operations of the navy.

Prof. W. H. Humphrey, principal of the Maysville Colored Schools, was master of ceremonies last evening and he made every one present feel that great things were in store for the colored race.

Other speakers were Hon. E. W. Lane, Superintendent of Maysville Public Schools, and several members of the Maysville Board of Education.

The Maysville Colored Schools now have the most domestic science course of any colored school in the State.

Though Illinois has woman suffrage, only 5 per cent. of the eligible women electors in the State voted in the recent primary election.

The trade commission bill on which Congress spent so much time to please the President is a measure that promises to open a wide field for litigation. The proposed commission is to operate with respect to all corporations engaged in interstate commerce, in about the same manner that the Interstate Commerce Commission is dealing with railroads, and it will have the inquisitorial and other powers of the existing bureau of corporations. The vast field open to this political commission will probably lead to its early downfall. There has been no demand on the part of the public for such legislation.

"It can hardly be questioned that President Wilson has made a serious mistake in selecting for the Supreme Court bench a man of Mr. McReynolds' mental qualities and training," says the New York Tribune. "The Attorney General is essentially a partisan and a passionate one. Not in our time, but in many times, he has shown a spirit that seriously mars his fitness for judicial office. The country has been glad to have an aggressive Attorney General, but even in that quasi-judicial post Mr. McReynolds has displayed a temper for wrangling and a personal bitterness that have much hampered his accomplishments."

From now on it may be expected that British losses on the seas will exceed the German, for the obvious reason that British merchantmen continue to ply the seas, while German ships stick to their own or to neutral ports. The allied navies are nominally in control of the seas; nevertheless there are a number of fast German cruisers at large, busily engaged in eluding pursuit and preying on the enemy's commerce. The experience of previous wars has shown that such daring raiders as these can do much damage to the merchant fleets of a more powerful Philadelphia Press.

Americans are learning to "see America first," largely with the help of good roads and the democratization of the motor car. The war of Europe that has closed a continent to travelers must serve as a powerful stimulus to the tendency. — Chicago News.

The outlook at present is that the first turning point of the war may be reached before winter closes in, although there is nothing to indicate that any of the belligerents would sue for peace, even in case of the defeat of the big armies now in action. All of the nations have resources in reserve, and the struggle has taken on such a desperate character that it is certain that no one battle, however tremendous its size, will end the war. — Washington Post.

DARK OUTLOOK FOR DEMOCRATS.

"The war in Europe does not alter the fact that a very important Congressional and State election is to be held in November," says the Boston Advertiser. "Political prophets have declared that the international situation will stay the avalanche that threatened to bury the Democrats. If this were true it would be a grave indictment against a Republican form of government. Nothing could furnish more conclusive proof of the incompetence of the Democracy than its lack of preparation for the present crisis, and its frantic activity in doing the wrong things after the war cloud broke. The financial situation forced the Democrats to resort to a Republican measure that they had condemned in their platforms and pointed out in their campaign speeches as a crime. Their tariff had already crippled the sugar industry, before war began to obscure our national issues. Their persistent opposition to every Republican attempt to encourage our merchant marine is alone responsible for our present isolation. The war does not render their anti-business legislation any more palatable than it was two months ago. In short, the present situation has thrown the political and economic bankruptcy of the Democratic party into bold relief."

DAILY NOVELETTE.

The Evening.

The maiden sang and then was hissed;

Ten minutes later she was missed;

I've heard that she was sweetly kissed

By a rising young pharmacist.

The night young Spillies got in Dutch with the gorgeous Miss Sniffles was rather warm, especially for Spillies. (See footnote.)

It was the night of the Hunsdeler ball.

Spillies for the first time that season, had managed to get a dance with the incomparable Miss Sniffles. They should have gotten along splendidly, for their names rhymed and all, but—

"Who is that ridiculous-looking man with a face like a fried owl, leaning against a pillar?" asked Spillies suddenly.

"That," she answered coolly, "is my father."

"No, no," hastily corrected Spillies. "The one next to him."

"That," she said coldly, "is my brother-in-law."

"Heavens! no; not that one," cried Spillies feverishly; "the one he's talking to."

"That," she informed him frostily, "is my twin brother."

"Oh, goodness, forgive me!" gasped Spillies. "Forgive me—I should have known!"

That was the evening, as we began by mentioning, that young Spillies got in Dutch with the beautiful Miss Sniffles.

OCTOBER, GOLDEN MONTH OF ALL THE YEAR.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

If ever the world is enwrapped in a haze that mellow with its softness the harsh edges of earthly existence, it is in the month whose hazy days never fail. To talk of the weather is man's prime and unfailing topic. To write of it is to take chances with a jade whose smile turns to a frown without a moment's warning. But October may be trusted. She is no willful maid, bent on the mocking of the spirit that she lures. Here is the comforting friendship of one who knows life through the borrowed experiences of the months that went before. Of their promise, she is the unflinching fulfillment. Her lap invites, her arms are a certain resting place.

Through the richly blazoned leaves of her woods the warm rays of the autumnal sun fall to the cool ground. There is both a chill and an ardency in the atmosphere. The patter of ants from the oak groves call to razor-back hogs. The rain of mast from the beech trees is echoed by the swish of the wings of ring-doves. Squirrels bark in the tall branches of the "shell bark" hickories. The shrill notes of summer insects have passed away. The raccoon creeps warily to his breakfast of crawfish in the bed of the old creek, whose waters run low, lapping the moss-grown edge of the big rock at the "crossing", where a few months before, you held bravely to the arm of the beloved girl, and wished it were the swelling of the Jordan instead of the rippling stream, and that the sun would stand still as it did in the valley of Achan, so precious were the fleeting moments. The fox grapes have grown purple under the anurous kisses of that same sun which is ripening the vintage of the plains of Champagne, and you think of the reports brought back by Caleb and Joshua from the Land of Promise, flowing with milk and honey, where the grapes of Eschol turned all the giants of existence into mere grasshoppers.

While the landscape swims in beauty, overhanging the blue skies of October, hilled with the tang of new wine and the untamed spirit of Hun and Visigoth sweeping down from the North to over- come and occupy the encrusted valleys too long possessed by dreamy and decadent summer. Your own spirit answers. The very buzzard that floats in the azure expanse becomes ennobled by his environment. Haroun al Raschid need no longer fare forth in search of rare experiences. He has but to stand still in the Ohio hills and let the moving picture films of the season bring to him thrice three screens of wonders that the prototype of "Kaloon, the Indian Maid" knew far better than the dark-eyed girl who draws her liberty for posing before the clicking instrument of modern devising.

The berries of the sumach are redder than the blood in Aisne's trenches. The pawpaw is as yellow as goose fat beneath its green rind, and the chestnut and persimmon await the first frost of adversity to prove the sweetness of their usage. To have tasted October to the full is to gather strength for the early year, even as fabled Aeneas, the earthborn, had to touch the All-Mother from time to time, in order to live.

The more you help others the brighter and more cheerful will be your own life.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

A Princess is a person who is shocked if you try to flirt with her and who is disappointed if you don't.

If married men would wait until they were married and then write their wives their love letters, their wives would divorce the poor dubs on the ground of insanity.

A man celebrates his birthday by taking a day off. A woman celebrates it by taking a year off.

About six months before a Boob makes up his mind whether he likes the girl well enough to take a chance at proposing to her, the girl has decided that the dining room will be paneled with Dutch platters and the color scheme of the bedroom will be a light blue.

Every time Father misses a half-wit necktie he always indignates and wonders why the fool women around the house do not buy some elastic and make some real garters for themselves.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

They wouldn't smoke Tuxedo if it didn't keep their minds alert and cheerful all day long, day in and day out. A tobacco that can do that stands in a class by itself.

Tuxedo is made of the very highest grade of choice, mellow, sweet Kentucky Burley leaf—treated by the original "Tuxedo Process," which removes the sting so that it cannot bite your tongue—granulated so that it smokes freely and uniformly—packed 40 pipefuls to the 10c tin.

Tuxedo deserves every good thing that has ever been said of it—and to prove it Tuxedo sells by the millions upon millions of tins annually.

Kentucky W. C. T. U. Takes Stand In Opposition.

Winchester, Ky. The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Kentucky, just before the adjournment of the thirty-fourth annual session here, went on record as in favor of women suffrage and opposed to the use of tobacco in any form, because of its alleged injurious effect upon the human system. The body commended the laws against traffic in women, Sabbath desecration, use of cigarettes by minors, and favored the censorship of motion pictures.

A resolution was adopted favoring the compulsory teaching of the Bible in the schools, and commending President Wilson for his attitude on the war question.

THE MOTTO ABOVE THE DESK.

At quitting time the desk was neat and clean; the day's litter had all disappeared.

Each morning the man sat down to it as to a clean slate.

Under the same roof were desks which looked as if they'd just been flung with a cyclone.

No mottoes hung above 'em—the litter didn't leave room.

Whether it was the motto or just his temperament which made the one man prompt and orderly while others seemed lax, he himself didn't know, for we asked him.

"Oh, I just hung that there because a fellow gave it to me and I agree with the sentiment. I don't remember ever having been specially influenced by it," he said.

"That's the value of a good motto; it's so insidious."

Of course, he didn't know when the motto "look." If somebody say the boss, had come around several times a day and lectured him on the wisdom of being prompt and orderly, he mightn't have heeded at all.

But there, on the wall, staring him in the face, in attractive type, patiently awaiting his glance, was the pitiful suggestion upon which so much success depends; and it "got" him irresistibly.

Get me yourself. The kind that aims straight at your worst weakness. Let the law of silent, but pitiless suggestion bore its way into your very soul. It may be just what you need.—Winchester Sun.

PROGRESSIVE PROTECTIONISTS?

If There Be Any Such, They Have a Curious Way of Demonstrating the Fact.

(San Francisco Chronicle.)

It is becoming the fashion for other political parties to abstract and try to get away with Republican policies with no intent to use them after immediate purposes are served.

The wholesale robbers are, of course, those whose official title is "Progressives" and their most monumental act of attempted theft is that of the policy of protection to home industries.

There is Kent, for example. He is a Progressive, is he not? He is one of the very elect of the cult, and the most reliable contributor to campaign funds that the party in this State possesses. If he is not a Progressive, there are none.

And yet in Congress he regularly voted to take the duties off California products and voted for the Democratic Tariff bill as usually shaped with all its corruptions.

But if Kent is a Progressive, then the Progressives are a Free-Trade party, and any claim that the party is Protectionist is miserable pretense.

But the very plank in the Progressive platform which pretends to endorse Protection carries evidence of its own sincerity and of the mindlessness of political thought which is the great Progressive characteristic.

For it favors a "non-partisan" permanent Tariff commission to fix the duties.

There is and can be no such thing as a non-partisan Tariff commission. Who ever should be on such a commission would be either a Protectionist or a Free Trader.

And Protectionists ask for no assistance from Free Traders in framing a Tariff for which Protectionists must be responsible, and will accept none.

And, moreover, no House of Representatives ever did or ever will abandon its constitutional authority to initiate and frame revenue laws and turn it over to irresponsible outsiders.

There are a number of so-called Progressives in Congress and not a soul among them is a reliable Protectionist, and many of them voted for the Democratic Tariff.

The fact is that the alleged Progressives stand for nothing on earth that is certain and definite, nor can any human being that will vote the Progressive ticket and do Progressive politics do anything which will exclude him from that party.

COQUETTING WITH DEATH.

Lincoln Beachey, the daring aviator who made some spectacular flights at the recent Kentucky State Fair, was in Washington a few days ago and looped the loop four times over the dome of the Capitol. He then made such an abrupt landing on the Potomac Flats that many persons thought he had fallen. This was so reported, in fact, from the wireless towers across the river at Arlington. The telegraphic account says: "Beachey finished the performance by turning two loops over the White House and then more loops flying low over the business section of the city while the government officials and thousands of spectators held their breath." It takes iron nerve to pull off stunts like that with a frail, bird-like flying machine such as Beachey uses in his death-defying flights. To those who like thrilling feats there is nothing so far devised than can equal the Beachey performance.—Frankfort State Journal.

TOBACCO CROP EQUAL TO LAST YEAR'S PREDICTED.

Washington.—Forecast of the tobacco crop announced by the Department of Agriculture shows this year's harvest will be 851,000,000 pounds, or equal to that of last season, despite early set backs. The department estimates the yield from the condition at time of harvest to be: Virginia, 93,600,000 pounds; North Carolina, 136,500,000 pounds; South Carolina, 31,600,000 pounds; Florida, 3,300,000 pounds; Kentucky, 311,100,000 pounds, and Tennessee, 59,100,000 pounds.

Secretary Bryan entered the New York senatorial campaign when he made public a letter declaring himself in favor of the election of Ambassador Gerard as an endorsement of the policies of the Administration.

Thoughts Are Sparks

—flashes of the mind that decide for success or failure.

The question is, what kind of sparks does your brain generate?

The brain, like a battery, must be supplied with certain elements to generate thought properly. These brain elements are water, albumen and phosphate of potash. If any of these are lacking in the daily food brain and body energy are vitally lessened. Are any lacking? Listen! Water and albumen are plentifully supplied in ordinary food, but phosphate of potash—along with other mineral elements—is almost wholly lacking in white bread and all white flour products.

COUNCILMAN GREENLEE

Makes Warm Reply to Agent
Wikoff--Strongly Opposes
Giving Away City
Street

Wrangle Getting to the Jumping-Off
Point

Editor Public Ledger:

In reply to the censorious "communication" over the caption of the C. & O. R. R. Agent, Mr. W. W. Wikoff, in your issue of the 8th, wherein he seems particularly studious in making me the target without any solicitation on my part. In his first effusion, which he claimed would be his last, and though he seems sufficed with these "enlightened communications," precipitated by his first "able article" on the closing of the access to the lower grade, in my humble capacity as a Councilman and a guardian of the city's interests I certainly claim the right to protect and defend the integrity of the assets of the city.

He says "they would impress the public as to what a menace the railroads are to the city," whilst Council heretofore has been remiss from the Messrs. spell of the Machiavellian wiles of a CHILL—yet they have been taught a valuable lesson from the past, and though they have overlooked the encroachments, illegal and unwarranted of driving piles and obstructing the passage ways both on Wall and Market streets without leave or license, and the Superintendent told several citizens that the C. & O. R. R. designed making a fill at the foot of Wall street, to which the driving of piles was always preliminary, which of course would entirely close the Wall street grade. Mr. Wikoff says, "this fill is an expensive one," and also of the material used the best, etc. What if it did cost the C. & O. R. R. as much as the community donated, i. e., $500,000, the value of the right of way, and $115,000 in cash as a donation to its building, what would be the compensation to the city in return. It would be a dangerous precedent, but an incalculable injury to the city prospective advantages, of transportation and lessening the assets of the city.

Mr. Wikoff says, "this street has been abandoned as a roadway and has been lying idle for 20 years." Mr. Wikoff is in error and this property has always been held by the city in FEE SIMPLE but held as an asset of the city for the use of the public, wherever it was their convenience to do so, but never as a street to be absorbed by the C. & O. R. R. or any one else.

With equal propriety any individual or corporation, by this power of the anarchy of wealth, could prevent and absorb the public park of the city in the Fifth Ward and the rear of the city infirmity, because neither is utilized and is also held as assets of the city.

At what era did the C. & O. R. R. become infixed with this system of philanthropic and frenzied sentiment, when they so strenuously desire to beautify and adorn the vista to the back premises of the signatory citizens he recites as attested by his masterly "communication."

Thanks to Mr. Wikoff in stating that Maysville can and will double in population within the next 10 years, in this view we are equally anticipating this boom, and want to preserve this lower street and grade, to build a tramway thereon to connect with the street railway to deliver the material which is tributary to the river and not accessible to the railroad.

Now Mr. Wikoff and the C. & O. R. R. this coveted property is not within the province of the City Council to part from as a gift, it is the asset of the humblest citizen to the one better circumstanced.

Councilman from the First Ward

Boan Boss Threatens To 'Punch Head' of Philadelphia Chief in Altercation on Eve of World's Series.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—With Manager George Stallings, of the Boston Braves, threatening to "punch the head off" Eppie Mack, leader of the Athletics, and every member of the National League champions boiling over with indignation in support of their chief, a real battle for blood is promised for Friday when the two teams meet in the first game of the world series.

The sun was shining warm and bright and there were high hopes that the rain clouds would be completely dispersed and favorable weather assured. Following the explosion of Stallings because of the refusal of Mack to permit the use of Shibe Park by the Braves this afternoon the Boston Manager put his charges through a short final practice at the National League Park. The Athletics crawled into their uniforms, and with Stuffy McInnis working out at first base, took their last warming up on their home field.

FIFTY YEARS AGO IN CINCINNATI

(Commercial Tribune.)

October 8, 1861.

Major General Hooker will attend the Carthage Fair and rally Saturday afternoon, and in anticipation of the largest crowd of the season the C. & O. R. R. has arranged to run a special train to Carthage, leaving this city at 1 p. m.

The weather was decidedly raw yesterday, a cold wind sweeping over the city throughout the day and the temperature falling 42 deg. during the afternoon.

The Mayor of Cincinnati issued his formal proclamation yesterday ordering all saloons within the city limits to remain closed all day on Tuesday, October 11, on account of the election.

Mrs. Major General Sherman was surrounded at the Burnet House last evening, and there was a vast throng of people to welcome the wife of the hero of the Atlanta campaign.

REGULATION BY LAW.

All business is under, or soon will be, the heels of some law. Last year 2,200 laws aimed at life insurance companies were introduced in state legislatures. Compulsory school laws compel people to become educated. In some states and in many counties people are forbidden by law to drink intoxicating liquors. There are states where it is a felony offense to smoke a cigarette, let alone sell one for somebody else to smoke. All the food we eat and the water we drink are forced around with a barbed wire law. Theatrical performances and books are subject to legal restraint. Only one thing that I know of is still free and that is one's religious belief. I wonder if the time is coming when we shall return to the old custom of regulating religion by law. America was largely settled by those who fled from Europe to escape laws which hampered their religious freedom, so there is ample precedent for even that sort of legislative activity in the United States.
